From the Editor's desk

According to your letters the Gathering this year was a great success and the best yet - I must confess I found it quite overwhelming. Looking back, I feel there were many of you that I did not even get the chance to speak to and yet I was on the go all day! If I did not, please forgive me, I did try and get round everyone but with so many there it was almost impossible.

There is an account of the day later in the Journal but there was a second day this year especially for our overseas members and an account of this together with the full story of our special Radio Station will appear in the Spring issue.

Thank you all for your support - I am still trying to tidy up the loose ends!

With this Journal is your Directory for next year and a membership renewal form. Please note the new rates as agreed at the AGM and PLEASE can I make a special appeal to you to renew your subscriptions PROMPTLY - it makes an awful lot of extra work for me if I have to keep sending reminders.

Make it your first New Year Resolution!

Finally - a Very Happy Christmas to all of you and your families and a Happy and Prosperous 1984 which will be the present Society's TENTH YEAR.

DANIEL SWINNERTON (1810 - 1856)

Daniel Swinnerton was born in Newcastle-under-Lyme, Staffordshire, on 22 August 1810 and was baptised there on 9 September. He was the sixth of the seven known children of Joseph Swinnerton and Hannah Dodd and, for a descendant of the Betley branch of the family, he was to lead a very settled - if not uneventful - life. His parents had married in Chester in 1797; his eldest brother, William, was born there; his eldest sister, Mary, was baptised in Liverpool in 1800; his brother, Joseph, was born in London in 1802; his elder brother, John, and sister, Ann, were, like Daniel, born in Newcastle and his younger brother, Charles, was born in Liverpool in 1813. After 1813 the family remained in Liverpool, with most of Daniel's generation marrying and dying there. However, some of William's descendants emigrated to New Zealand, Charles's children were to be found living in the United States, India and Italy as well as England and some of Daniel's own descendants crossed the Atlantic so the peripatetic tradition of the Betley branch was maintained!

Daniel's father, Joseph, was a Wood Turner but in January 1828, at the rather late age of 17, Daniel was apprenticed (according to the Freeman's Apprenticeship Roll) to Joseph Brookes Yates, Merchant, for seven years. There appears to be some doubt as to whether Daniel completed his apprenticeship as he married for the first time before the completion of his seven year term - and apprentices were not generally allowed to marry - and, at his marriage to Ann Williams, spinster, at St Peter's Church, Liverpool, on 27 October 1834 he is described as a Turner.

Little is known about this first marriage, except that the couple appear to have left Liverpool for Cheshire and had a son, Henry, born in 1837 or 1838 (living with Daniel in 1851). There is no birth registration (after Civil Registration began in July 1837) for this child and no obvious death for Ann Swinnerton, his mother, but she disappears from the scene before 1841.

In the 1841 Directory for Liverpool Daniel Swinnerton, Wood Turner, is shown at 1, Burgess Street and the 1841 Census, taken on 7th June, finds him lodging just round the corner, on Lambert Street, with Catha(rine) Aspinall, aged 58 and 'Independent'. There are no other Swinnertons living in the area. (A number of the houses on Lambert St. have 'brothel' written by their census entries but not the one where Daniel was living!). Not far away, in Back Portland St., Margaret Yates, aged 30 and described as a Carrier, was living with her father, George Pedley, a baker aged 68, and four other Pedleys - presumably her younger brothers and sisters. Whether she was any relation to Daniel's former Master, Joseph B. Yates, is not known.

Three years later, on 23 September 1844, Daniel Swinnerton, widower and Wood Turner of Limekiln Lane, married Margaret Yates, widow of Burlington St., at St Nicholas's, Liverpool. Daniel's second marriage was of even shorter duration than his first. A son George was baptised at St Peter's on 22 November 1846 when they were living in Great Nelson St. but, by the end of 1846, Margaret had died and the infant George presumably followed her, as there is a death registration for a George Swinnerton in Liverpool in the June quarter of 1847 and nothing further is heard of the infant.

Having lost two wives in twelve years, Daniel bided his time before committing himself to a third marriage and his two known surviving children were born before this event took place! However, it may be that his third wife-to-be was not free to marry when they met as the couple described themselves as being married for several years before they were and registered their children as legitimate.

Sarah Jones, nee Sarah Wilkinson, had been born in Liverpool in about 1821. On 30 June 1850 she registered the birth of Caroline, daughter of Daniel and Sarah Swinnerton of 31 Lambert St. The 1851 Census, taken on 30th March, found the couple, described as husband and wife, lodging with William Binges and his family at 31 Lambert St., together with Daniel's son, Henry, aged 13 and born in (Chester?), Cheshire and Caroline aged nine months.

A son, Joseph, was born in 1852 and, on 9th October 1853, Daniel finally married Sarah at St Peter's, one of the witnesses being Frances Fallon. The couple were then living on Burgess St. It seems almost certain that two further children followed - Hannah in 1854 and Daniel in 1856 - but 1856 proved to be a very bad year for the family!

On 30th March 1856, Daniel Swinnerton aged 46 of Burgess St. was buried at St John's Churchyard, Old Haymarket, leaving Sarah with an 18 years old stepson, 3 children under 7, and pregnant again. Daniel was born in late June or early July. On 18th September, Hannah Swinnerton aged 3 years from Burgess St. was buried in the free ground of the Parochial Cemetery in Rice Lane, Walton and she was followed on 28th December by Daniel, aged 6 months. Sarah must have been glad to see the year end!

She was obviously a survivor, however, and on 7th November 1858 she married her third husband at St. Nicholas - John Davies, a widower and butcher from Ilford St. Frances Fallon was again one of the witnesses. John and Sarah's first (and probably only) child was born in July 1859 when Sarah was in her early forties. In April 1861 they were living on Ilford St. - John aged 56, Sarah aged 43 - with their son John, aged 19 months, and Caroline and Joseph Swinnerton, step-children of John Davies, aged 10 and 8. Henry had left home and, as there does not appear to be a likely entry for either his marriage or his death in the G.R.O. indexes, it may well be that he followed the example of his cousins and emigrated.

Trouble was not yet over for Daniel's family and in August 1868, when she was barely 18, Caroline gave birth to an illegitimate son in Ilford St., baptised James at St Mary Magdalene, Kempston St. on 28th August. Tragedy still stalked them and on 9th September James, aged 3 weeks, was buried in Walton Cemetery. In June 1870 Caroline Jones Swinnerton married George Parry, a shoemaker, at St. Nicholas. Both of them gave their address as Lambert Street, the street where Caroline had been born not quite twenty years before.

Brother Joseph waited until he was 22 years old and on 8 February 1875 (saying he was 24) he married Sarah Groves, aged 26, at St Peter's, Liverpool. He described himself as an Engineer and living in Clayton Street, the same street as Sarah. It is not clear whether Joseph himself became a convert to the Roman Catholic faith but his wife did and on 14 June 1888 Sarah Swinnerton, daughter of James and Louisa Groves, was baptised a Catholic at St Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church, Salisbury St. Two of their children - Frederick born 29 April 1878 and Daniel born 6 July 1880 - were also baptised there on 29 June 1888. Frederick apparently married in Montreal in 1920 and there appears to be no marriage or death entry for Daniel in the G.R.O. indexes so it may well be that both brothers went to Canada.

Perhaps it is appropriate that descendants of Daniel, one of the comparatively few members of the Betley branch to 'stay put', should have maintained the family tradition and wandered far from home!

ANOTHER SOLDIER'S TALE

(This was sent to me by the late William Swinnerton BEM. a few weeks before he died.)

"I was most interested in the Soldier's Story told in the Journal and of course it brought back memories of my own few years on active service though mine were done in Egypt, the Sinai Desert and Palestine.

One incident still stays in my memory and is worth recording as illustrating the quick, ready wit and carefree attitude of my comrades in the Welsh Regiment with whom I was then serving.

We were part of the 54th.Welsh Division following the retreating Turkish Army across the Sinai and into Palestine which meant quite a good bit of marching. To keep us interested our Platoon Officer would consult his maps and tell us where we were and the distances to places of Biblical interest as we got nearer to Palestine.

On the particular occasion I recall, we were nearing the end of yet another day's march when one of the boys, a little Welsh miner known to us all as Tyke (quite a character) asked our officer 'where are we now Sir?' Out came the map but to our officer's discomfiture he couldn't find our position and had to search in his haversack for the adjoining map. Like a flash Tyke called out to his pal 'Shorty, we've marched off the b....y map.'

Total collapse of column! "

The Gathering, held at the Village Hall, Swynnerton on the 24th. September 1983 was without question the biggest and most succesful Gathering so far with a record number of 'Swinnies' under one roof. A grand total of 170. We were delighted to welcome no less than 23 from overseas - a quite incredible turnout. The very pleasant September weather allowed everyone to wander round the village and take in the sights.

First item of the day was the Annual General Meeting of the Society which was kept to a minimum but included the essential adoption of the Accounts and the election of Officers for the coming year. Mr. John Swinnerton had asked to stand down as Chairman after a 3 year stint and Ken Armitstead was elected in his place. Our sincere thanks to John for his careful attention to the duties involved. Colin Swinnerton had also asked to stand down as a member of Council, due to business pressures, and we are very pleased to welcome Mrs. Diana Cunningham on to the Council in his place. Mrs. Cunningham is from the USA and should greatly help the transatlantic mix of interests. All other members of Council were re-elected for the current year. No surprises for Iain Swinnerton who was again elected as Secretary!

In view of the ever-increasing cost of producing and mailing the Journal, it was agreed to increase the members' Subscription by £1 making the new rates £3.50 for full members and £2 for Senior Citizens and Students (UK only).

Bill Swinarton, who is the organiser of our North American Branch, then gave an all too modest account of his energetic efforts in feeding information back and forth across the Atlantic. Iain gave a very full account of the overall progress of the Society and later made a short but entertaining presentation on Heraldry.

Ray Swinnerton set up a temporary amateur radio station in the hall, permission for which had been obtained by John who is, of course, a Past-President of the Radio Society of Great Britain, and during the day contacted many countries including the USSR.

He also gave an amusing talk and demonstration of Fencing which is his other hobby. Colonel Jeremy Swynnerton showed a magnificent collection of butterflies and moths and gave a very interesting account of survival in their natural habitat.

In the Glebe Hall we had a splendid collection of about 30 paintings, both oils and water colours and sketches. All, of course, by members of the family.

For the first time St. Mary's Church was really full with Swinnertons for the Family Service. The Rev. Edward Swinnerton gave a short but thought provoking sermon and - as he put it - allowed the day's schedule to catch up. His daughter Paula played the organ, our new Council member, Diana Cunningham from Texas, read the lesson and the Blessing was given by the Reverend Gerald Gardiner, Rector of Swynnerton.

During the day ladies were busy selling tickets for a raffle organised by Joe Swinnerton which realised no less than £155 (for a modest investment the writer won a bottle of wine!)

Last but not least the Ladies of the parish provided an excellent lunch, followed by afternoon tea, for all 170 people. Quite a feat. A welcome 'thank you' to the Society for the gift of the Glebe Hall.

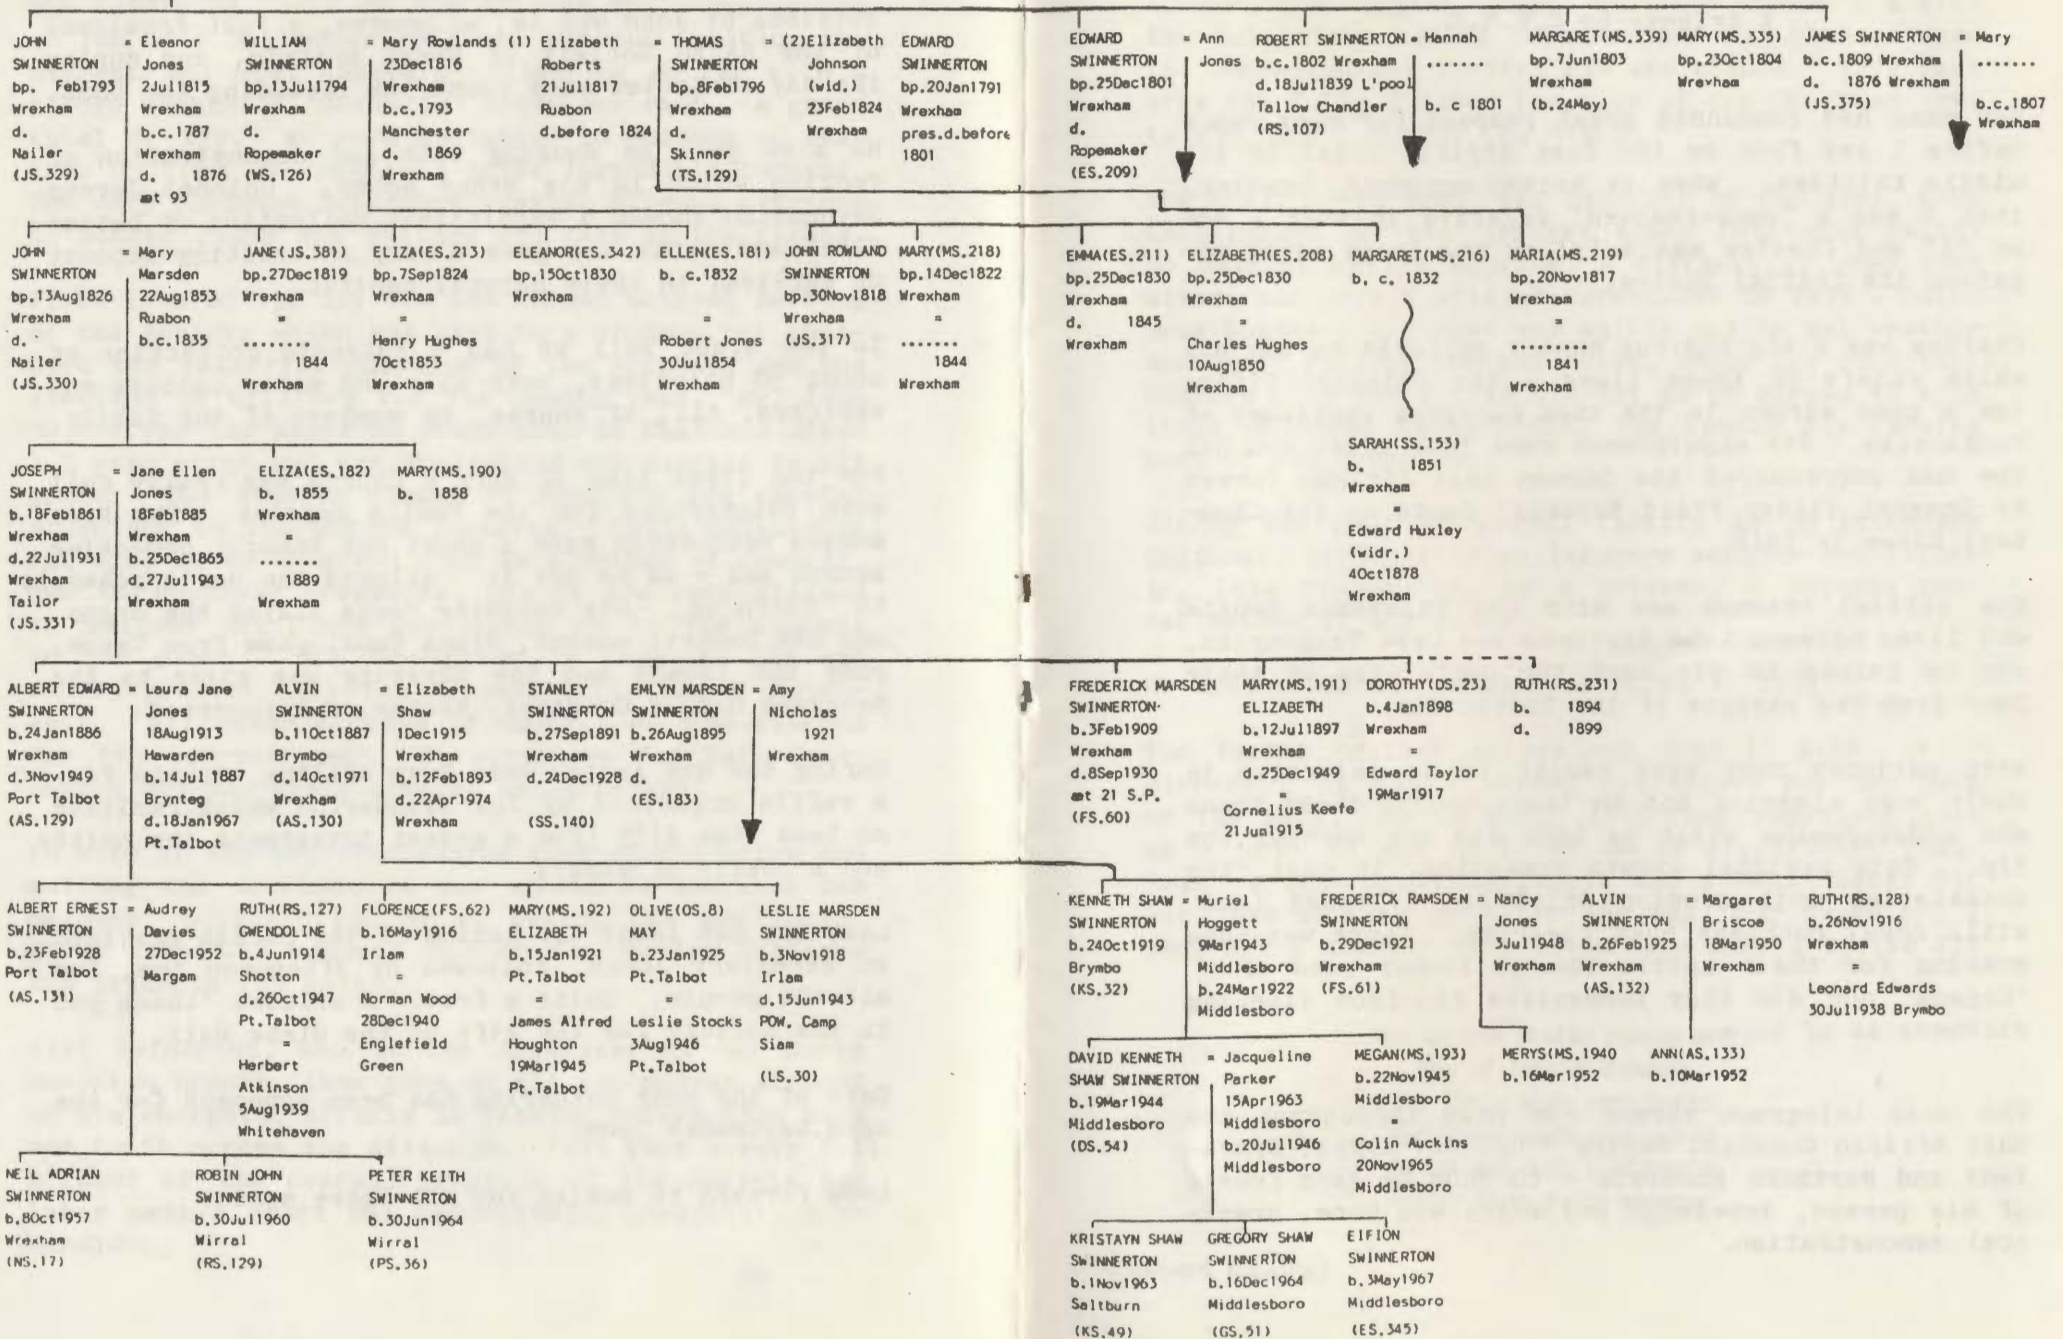

Date of the next Gathering has been proposed for the 22nd. September 1985.

Look forward to seeing you all there again.

A tribute to C.F.M.S.

Our name had commanded great respect for many years before I set foot on the East African Coast in the middle thirties. When it became apparent, however, that I was a 'once-removed' relative in that I was an 'i' and Charles was a 'y' my new image never regained its initial lustre.

Charles was a big-big-bug hunter employed by the big white chiefs of those times - the Colonial Office - as a game warden in the then mandated territory of Tanganyika. His appointment came just after Von Lettow had surrendered the German East African forces to General (later Field Marshal) Smuts on the Chambesi River in 1918.

His initial triumph was with the Shimyamca people who lived between Lake Victoria and Lake Tanganyika, who he helped to win back the usefulness of their land from the ravages of the Tsetse fly.

With patience they were taught to be selective in their bush clearing and to leave behind those trees and undergrowths which he knew did not harbour the fly. This residual growth prevented, in part, the devastating soil erosion which had followed (and still does) ruthless bush clearing. There was thus grazing for their cattle who no longer died of 'Nagama' nor did they themselves die from sleeping sickness as of yore.

The bush telegraph spread the news throughout the East African Colonial empire - Uganda, Kenya, Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia - to whom he gave freely of his person, knowledge and which was more, practical demonstration.

Not long afterwards, the adjoining states of Sudan, Somaliland, the Sultanate of Zanzibar, Portugese E. Africa, the Belgian Congo, Southern Rhodesia & even the Toli block within Bechuanaland all climbed upon the bandwagon and invited his assistance. This vast area was fully 8 times the size of the UK. (Lat.12N. to 23S. and Long.26E. to 45E.)

The Great North Road, the backbone of the area, from Livingstone on the Zambesi River (Victoria Falls) to Nairobi on the Equator, a distance of over 2000 miles, had only 1 mile of tarmacadam in 1938 - Cairo Road Lusaka - the rest was mainly mud in wet weather and dust, filling the pot holes, under dry conditions. Charles slid and jolted his way as he strove to eliminate GLOSSINA SWYNNERTONI, the Tsetse Fly causing most of the troubles.

During the past 46 years, firstly as an itinerant engineer, secondly as an Infantry soldier and latterly, less frequently, as a butcher, I enjoyed the reflection of his glory.

He died in an air crash near Mbrya in 1938.

The Tsetse neither stings nor does it bite - it pierces. It has a marked preference for the back of the neck. Up to about 1945 they sometimes gave me a pain in the neck but it is significant that Bess, a braw Scottish lassie and a real Tsetse Tit Bit, who married me after the war, our daughter, 3 sons and 5 nippers have never even seen a Tsetse fly.

Let us now praise famous men
Men of little showing
For their work continueth
And their work continueth
Broad and deep continueth
Greater than their knowing!

CALENDAR OF THE CHESHIRE TRAILBASTON
PROCEEDINGS 1353

These documents have been transcribed by Dr Paul Booth of Liverpool University. The original roll is in the Public Record Office in the records of the Palatinate of Chester: Chester Plea Rolls (ref. no. Ches 29/65).

Extracts have been printed in 'Cheshire History' number 12 with the permission of HMSO.

52. Sir Thomas Swynnerton v Ranulf Horton,
(Poaching)

Sir Thomas Swynnerton complained that Ranulf son of Richard Horton, on Thursday the feast of St. Thomas the martyr, 1353,¹ entered Sir Thomas's free warren at Barrow² without permission. Thereupon, he hunted and caught hares, rabbits, partridges and pheasants, and killed a cygnet. Also, he claimed that on Monday 20 December, 1350, Ranulf cut down one of Sir Thomas's oaks at Barrow, worth 3s. 0d., and having taken it away, assaulted Richard, Sir Thomas's bailiff at Barrow.

Jury — Guilty of killing the cygnet and cutting the tree, not guilty of the rest, and damages of £2 1s. 0d.

Fine — 6s. 8d. (pledges Richard Preston and Henry)

1. This date is obviously a mistake, since the feast St. Thomas the Martyr in 1353 was on 29 December (too late), while the feast of his translation, 7 July, fell on a Sunday. 29 December 1351 fell on a Thursday, and so this is the most probable date.
2. Little Barrow had belonged to the Despenser family who had forfeited their estates in the last years of Edward II's reign, and they had been granted to Roger Swynnerton in December 1333 (Calendar of Fine Rolls, 1333, p.381).

Nostalgia
Spot

Mr. Claude Walker, of Clayton, was driving round Fenton the other day when a feeling of sadness for the old days of 70 years ago came over him.

"I used to go to the Royal Cinema for a penny with a pennyworth of toffee or a halfpenny turnip. There Eddie Polo shook hands with me. He was the star of the silent screen in those days.

"On other Saturdays I would hire a bike from Mr. Swinnerton in Victoria-road, or walk to Sideway and see the rowing boats on the canal. We bathed in the "warm hole" on the canal. And one of the great days was watching the Cenotaph in Church-street being unveiled."

New governors

Councillors John Lutner and Nigel Pocock have been appointed by Hinstock Parish Council to be governors of Hinstock Primary School.

Mr Robert Swinnerton has been elected a parent governor.

A real family affair

MEMBERS of a dynasty established at Swynnerton, near Stone, when the Domesday Book was compiled will be meeting in the North Staffordshire village tomorrow.

The 1983 bi-annual gathering of the Swinnerton Family Society, beginning in the Village Hall at 10.30 a.m., will include a large contingent from the American and Canadian branches.

The society tell me that Swinnertons have emigrated to North America during the past 300 years and have played a notable part in establishing the continent's two countries.

Some members of the family were among those early pioneer settlers who ventured to the New World in the 15th and 16th centuries.

The Swinnerton Family Society was founded to research into and record the history of the family, to assist where possible in the welfare of St. Mary's Church, Swynnerton — the family church — and to gather a friendly circle of members of the family scattered throughout the world.

Nowadays there are many corruptions of the original family name, including Swenarton, Swinnington and Sunnerton.

CONNAH'S QUAY AND SHOTTON.

DEATH OF NORMAN SWINNERTON.

"Regret to inform you 243992 Gunner N. Swinnerton is dangerously ill at 49 Casualty Clearing Station, France. Gassed (mustard). Permission to visit cannot be granted." Such is the brief message received by his parents on the 19th July. It is just a little more than 12 months since his mother appeared before the local Tribunal asking that he might be granted six weeks' exemption so that his younger brother might be able to engage in some work in the meantime. She was willing to part with him, and he was willing to go to fight and, if necessary, to die for King and country. The Chairman spoke words of approval to her, and stated that she was a credit to the women of Wales. So she might have been had the Military Representative not pointed out that she happened to be a Limerick woman, and the boy was a soldier's son. What else might have been expected from such a combination? He was born in the Cheshire Regiment, 2nd Battalion, at Limerick, and spent 3½ years of his boyhood in India. He joined up voluntarily, as the best of the lads have done, on August 16th of last year, went through his training as a gunner in the R.F.A. at Preston, and went out on Boxing Day to France as a gun layer. He was with a flying artillery column, and on the 17th July was put out of action "somewhere in France." The official wire did not give even the melancholy consolation or hold out hope of seeing him before his death. Then came two letters, kind and sympathetic, from the sister in charge of the hospital, the first stating that his "condition is critical; he is in great danger; he is a very nice, good patient; we continue to do all in our power for him." Breathing a spirit of loving care and sympathy, but expressing little hope. Then on the 21st she writes: "With deepest regret to say your son passed away at 8.30 a.m. quite suddenly, and apparently while he slept. I am so sorry for you, because he seemed such a nice boy. He will be buried in St. Riquier, near Abbeville, in a nice little cemetery. I am sending you a piece of his hair, which I am sure you will like to have." The letter is not very lengthy, but contains all one would wish to know, assuring the mother that all the care and attention which one woman could give to the son of another had been given. It must be a comfort to the many mothers in this country to know that amid all the stress and anxiety and labour of a casualty station the sisters find time to write personal letters of comfort and consolation to those bereaved. The women of this country whose sons have, like Norman Swinnerton, willingly offered themselves, will have a good deal to say when the time comes for a general settlement and clearing up of accounts with the Germans; who, not content with gas poisoning, send the wounded with their nurses to the bottom of the ocean. Norman Swinnerton sleeps in the little cemetery near Abbeville, where many another nice boy beloved in his own home circle lies. He died on the 21st of July, and a few days later the gallant men of Coventry and elsewhere came out on strike!

This is a particularly interesting obituary as it very much reflects the spirit of the times. He was the eldest child of Sgt. Major William Swinnerton mentioned in our last issue.
